OSCE PA SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE ON ANTI-SEMITISM, RACISM, AND INTOLERANCE – U.S. SENATOR BEN CARDIN

United States Senator Ben Cardin was appointed the OSCE PA's Special Representative on Anti-Semitism, Racism and Intolerance in March 2015. Special Representative Cardin has been annually reappointed to the position since that time.

He has served for more than a decade in the OSCE PA, holding the positions of Vice-President and Chairperson of the Committee on Economic Affairs, Science, Technology and Environment. He also currently serves as Head of the U.S. Delegation to the OSCE PA.

Senator Cardin has been a member of the Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe (the U.S. Helsinki Commission) since 1993, serving as Chairman in the 111th Congress, the 113th Congress, and the 117th Congress. He is also a member of the U.S. Senate Committee on Foreign Relations.

Within both the U.S. Congress and the Parliamentary Assembly, Senator Cardin has consistently worked to raise awareness of the global escalation of prejudice, discrimination, and related violence, while striving to promote peace, tolerance and equality.

This report details Special Representative Cardin's activities from October 30, 2021 – February 10, 2023 with the support of the Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe (U.S. Helsinki Commission).

MANDATE OF THE OSCE PA SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVE ON ANTI-SEMITISM, RACISM, AND INTOLERANCE

The mandate of the OSCE PA Special Representative on Anti-Semitism, Racism and Intolerance is to:

- Raise awareness in and report to the OSCE Parliamentary Assembly on the persisting problem of prejudice and discrimination in the OSCE area, including anti-Semitism, other religion- and race-based intolerance and other forms of intolerance;
- Raise awareness in and report to the OSCE Parliamentary Assembly on the track records of OSCE participating States in combating these problems;
- Advise the Assembly on the implementation of its agreed policies in these matters as well as on the development of new policies and strategies, including on how to protect the individuals and communities affected;
- Seek to promote dialogue and exchange of best practices within the Assembly on combating these problems, and;
- Communicate with relevant actors within the OSCE who work on combating prejudice and discrimination in the OSCE area, including anti-Semitism, religion-, race-based, and other forms of intolerance.

FOREWORD

One year ago today, Russia launched a brutal, full-scale invasion of Ukraine. In doing so, President Putin tried to justify Russia's brutal invasion of Ukraine through perversel antisemitic statements claiming the invasion was an effort to "de-Nazify" Ukraine, notwithstanding that the Ukrainian people in 2019 elected a Jewish president.

Despite such Russian disinformation, real antisemitism is on the rise across the OSCE region.

I am very concerned that some popular entertainers and public figures are spreading antisemitic tropes to their followers on social media or through public statements. It is alarming that such disinformation, conspiracy theories, and hate speech can be disseminated so quickly and globally through the use of today's digital technology to their followers.

We must speak out loudly and clearly against antisemitism when it occurs. As leaders in government, politics and society, we must lead the fight against hate. We cannot allow antisemitism – or any other type of prejudice or intolerance – to become normalized.

The spread of antisemitic and intolerant disinformation and conspiracy theories also threatens to undermine our democratic institutions, as they attack the veracity of the government and mainstream media.

FOREWORD (cont'd)

Over the last 20 years, the OSCE has developed its work to address antisemitism, both in the OSCE Parliamentary Assembly and on the governmental side. Participating States have adopted many OSCE commitments to prevent antisemitism, and OSCE Institutions – particularly ODIHR – have developed tools to assist states implement them, including a hate crimes database, practical guidelines and handbooks, educational materials, and police training programs. I urge all of you to avail yourselves of the assistance that the OSCE can offer, particularly educational materials and police training.

I myself convened a roundtable in the U.S. Capitol last December with high-level officials from across the government and the non-profit sector actively and we held a hearing in Congress on combating antisemitism.

I am pleased to be able to report to you today that President Joe Biden has created a new inter-agency coordination group to improve U.S. government efforts to counter antisemitism, Islamophobia, and related forms of bias and discrimination within the United States.

Their first charge, at the urging of Congress and others, is to develop a unified, national strategy to counter antisemitism.

I believe that a national strategy must be built on strengthening education, protecting public safety, training law enforcement and data collection, coalition building with other groups, and above all, leadership. I urge all of you to work with your governments to develop one.

This report details the legislative and other efforts I have led to address these concerns alongside efforts to work with the OSCE and OSCE Participating States to enact the plan of action outlined in the 2021 Urgent Item Addressing the Rise in Hate, Intolerance, Violence and Discrimination as a means of implementing OSCE human rights and security commitments.

Ben Cardin

*Special Representative on Anti-Semitism, Racism, and Intolerance
Member of the United States Senate*
