Situation of refugees in focus during OSCE PA migration committee visit to Türkiye

A ten-member delegation of the OSCE PA's Ad Hoc Committee on Migration, led by its Chair Dr. Daniela De Ridder (Germany), concluded a visit to Türkiye on 23 May. Hosted by Kemal Çelik (Türkiye), the four-day visit was intended to contribute to greater understanding of the work being done by Türkiye to support a refugee population of 3.4 million people.

Meeting with a wide range of interlocutors, the delegation learned how Türkiye is facilitating the access of Syrians under temporary protection and international protection holders to education, employment, health care, and other services. Challenges such as barriers in accessing legal status and labour permits, the situation of refugees and irregular migrants from other countries, vulnerable refugees – especially women – and addressing child labour and child marriage were among the many issues discussed. Delegates discussed the issue of returns to the so-called ‘safe zone’ in northern Syria and the need for increased humanitarian support to internally displaced persons in Syria, with interlocutors underlining that the conditions for safe, voluntary and dignified returns were not yet present.

The programme kicked off on 20 May in Ankara with briefings by representatives of migration management authorities, various Turkish ministries and Türkiye’s Coast Guard Command. The delegation then visited the Adana Sarıçam Temporary Accommodation Centre, the largest camp in the country, currently hosting about 12,500 Syrians, and which includes schools, health care centres, mosques and other facilities.

The delegation met with provincial authorities and the mayor of Gaziantep, and representatives of UNHCR, UNICEF, IOM and WFP, as well as non-governmental organizations. It visited a container camp set up for Syrian earthquake victims in İslahiye and new housing units for the affected population of the region.

In addition to De Ridder and Çelik, the delegation included the following OSCE parliamentarians: Committee Vice-Chairs Kyriakos Hadjiyianni (Cyprus), Farah Karimi (Netherlands), Gudrun Kugler (Austria), and Members Canan Bayram (Germany), Kristian Klinck (Germany), Dimitrios Markopoulos (Greece), Özgül Saki (Türkiye), and David Stögmüller (Austria).
